Creating Socially responsible leaders

● ○ REDMI NOTE 6 PRO

Founder's Note:

Talent Quest for India (TQI) is an initiative of, for, and by the youth of India. It began with the idea of discovering the hidden talents in youngsters and enhance them with adequate support and encouragement. We firmly believe in holistic development and uniqueness of an individual, moreover young people are full of abundant energy, courage, spirit for adventure, imagination, hope and ambition which can be used in constructive and developmental activities. They could work wonders if their potentials are channelized and appropriately directed.

The journey started off, Summoning all the hope and determination, joined hands with a few friends in 2010, since then TQI has come a long way. TQI began as a small volunteering group when I was sixteen; it has now grown into a far - reaching organization with over 2500 volunteers. The common mission is to instill a sense of belongingness and pride among the youth for their country.

I believe that sharing helps in establishing and developing genuine love towards any subject or an issue. "The power of sharing is immensely powerful. I can vouch for it because whenever I attempt to teach or explain a concept to my friends in school, I begin with a thorough understanding of that topic, which deepens love for that subject,"

Ultimately, our efforts are always to help the youth become more socially responsible, and in turn, make society more socially responsible as well.

The year 2018-19 turned out to be an exuberant one to us as we received our very first recognition that acknowledged our efforts. The i-Volunteer awards recognized TQI as one of the top 7 finalists in 2019 under the category of- "Leader in Volunteer Engagement" among NGOs. We are glad in dedicating this award to all our volunteers and their families.

Taking this opportunity to thank all the organizations, the volunteers who stepped up together to extend their helping hands to each other and restored our faith in humanity. during Gaja Cyclone which was a massive destructive disaster in Tamilnadu that affected the livelihood of people.

Taking inspiration and learnings out of our Chhote scientist program in Mysuru for two years, we have initiated a science program named "Kanaa"(Dream) in Tamilnadu for students studying in 6th to 8th grades.

The sense of responsibility you all felt towards transforming our country to a better place, is the reason for all this to happen.

Thank you for your support and motivation.

Warm regards,

G.Ramasubramaniam,
Founder and Chief Listening Officer,
Talent Quest for India.

Testimonials:

Feedbacks

The efforts that TQI puts in approaching the rural schools, and to deliver the self-improvement classes for students is incredible. Their classes motivate the students to come out of their shell and express themselves freely. I wish the good deeds continue forever.

Feedbacks

A volunteering movement that TQI is, has been a supremely driven and thoroughly sincere organisation of youth, in the reverie of giving birth to future leaders. Something that began as a curious inquiry into its activities across Tamil Nadu, translated into a fast track partnership in running KPIT's flagship program of Chhote Scientist in Mysore. It's first in the city, with a new bunch joining the TQI tribe, the conduct radiated the founding principles of the organisation. Driven, meticulous and persevering, the quality in volunteering was impressive and to say the least, assuring. With every furthering day, TQI is only emerging obsequious to society.
